An Old Church at Tlalpan. Tlalpan is a picturesque and healthy suburban district of Mexico, and has a population of 6,000. It is situated on the slope of Mount Ajusco amidst a profusion of flowers and fruits. From 1827 to 1830 the town was the official capital of the State of Mexico, and during that period a mint was in operation at Tlalpan. The view depicted is an old church situated in a pretty spot.
